PENDULUM

What is a "Resources for Risk" Resource Center?

The "Resources for Risk" online resource center is a Pendulum product designed to provide a client with the ability to offer its insureds a branded, password-protected online destination with extensive senior housing risk management resources.

The resource center contains more than 1,800 management tools, forms, policies, procedures, checklists, and more. Many of the documents have been authored by Pendulum, but the resource center also has public domain documents from CDC, CMS, FEMA, OIG, and other governmental and public sites.

A Customized Resource Center

The Resources for Risk resource center allows an organization to offer its clients numerous valuable risk management materials on a website that looks and feels like their own company website.

The unique aspect of the Resources for Risk resource center is that Pendulum can build the resource center with a client's logo, colors, and its own risk management resource documents to offer a powerful, custom risk management website. Pendulum documents as well as the clients' documents can be loaded, and the website is hosted with a company-branded URL—such as https://ResourcesForRisk.com/ABCCompany—so Pendulum's clients will enjoy a unique web address (URL) that can be marketed without any reference to Pendulum (please see samples on next page).

Client-specific Resources

Clients are encouraged to send Pendulum any of the resources and/or documents that they wish to be made available to their own resource center users. Pendulum will review the documents and upload them to the client's resource center, making the resource center a uniquely "client-oriented" tool. No other resource center will be the same as this client-unique site.

Features

Features of the resource center include unlimited user access, a registration system built into the center with client interaction to approve users or automatic approval, email capability for entire user group with news and updates, a secure domain, a My Docs tab to bookmark favorite resources, digital eAssist and FAQs unique to each client portal, an option to provide informational emails to users with links back to relevant resource center documents, and resource center-specific tracking features as well as Pendulum-provided usage reports.
